

Tips And Tools For Getting There And Back

By Jeffery Post

Safe and Secure

You're in an unfamiliar place. It's just you, your backpack, a small suitcase and your fishing rods standing in the middle of a train station in Madrid on your way to the Rio Segre for a catfish angling adventure you won't soon forget. While your custom rods are certainly a prized possession, it's the contents you're carrying on your back that are of the most importance - your visa, passport, cash, travelers checks and credit cards. But you don't have to worry about them being stolen because you're carrying one of Pac Safe's most secure adventure backpacks, the DaySafe 100.

Known as the "Fort Knox" of backpacks, the DaySafe 100 features laminated eXomesh Ultimate security technology. The 16L removable compartment of the pack consists of an inner high-tensile stainless steel mesh shell that is laminated between weather resistant nylon. When required, this compartment cinches and locks closed and can also be locked to a secure fixture, rendering it slash proof, snatch proof and tamper proof. Travelers can also remove the eXomesh compartment for use as a portable safe in your hotel room or car, while using the DaySafe 100 as a regular daypack.

Perfect for anglers on the go who don't want to spend their trip worrying about the security of their personal belongings, PacSafe's DaySafe 100 is the last adventure backpack you'll ever need. You Can Hear Me Now

Hello! Hello! Are you there? Many of us know the experience of a dropped call in the middle of an important conversation can often be misconstrued. Will the person at the other end of the line think you hung up on them? Or maybe you were talking to a significant other and were suddenly cut off at an awkward point in your sentence. While these kind of uncomfortable situations occur to cell phone users around the world on a daily basis, it's the more important instances, like when you're in a life or death situation, when the last thing you need is a dropped call, or worse, no signal at all. That's when Globalstar, the leader in satellite communication technology comes to the rescue.

Just imagine being able to connect to the people and data that matter most in the places and times that traditional communications don't always work. Now, with the GSP-1700, the smallest and lightest satellite phone on the market, you'll have all the power of the Globalstar network at your fingertips. With 36 hours of stand-by time, four hours of talk time and the ability to send emails, surf the net and receive fax data, the GSP-1700 offers users more applications than any other satellite phone system and features Path Diversity technology, which takes the best portion of each satellite signal to provide maximum voice and service quality. The GSP-1700 also communicates with the Globalstar satellite at elevations of more than 10 degrees above the horizon allowing it to work where you want it and when you need it the most.

Available at one of the many Globalstar dealers around the world or through the www.globalstar.com website, the GSP-1700 will never leave you disconnected.

Vital Information

You're thousands of miles away from home enjoying the splendors of fishing aboard an expedition vessel off the north coast of Australia. That TPS report you have to get to once you arrive back at the office is the furthest thing from your mind. This is the moment you've been waiting for and nothing is going to get in your way. With your line out, you sit back waiting for a behemoth pelagic to attack your bait when suddenly, you begin experiencing an attack of another kind. As you open your eyes, the next thing you see are doctors and nurses surrounding you around a hospital bed explaining you just survived a serious heart attack and that a rescue helicopter had to fly in to transport you to the hospital. Your doctor then mentions that were it not for the Traveler-ER in your pocket containing all your medical records, you might not have made it.

When seconds count and information is vital, the Traveler-ER USB portable drive provides medical professionals with all your personal, medical and emergency contact information. Designed with input from industry leaders, the Traveler-ER organizes your records into a unique emergency report that can quickly and easily provide medical personnel with important information to assist with your immediate care. To maintain privacy, the personal information entered onto the device remains secure, stored only on the drive and not on any online database.

Don't just count on luck if you have a medical emergency while away from home. Be ready for the "what if" situation and ensure your peace of mind by investing in this unique, yet simple lifesaving tool at www.traveler-er.com.

Zoning Out

Lose a few hours here; gain a few hours there and all of a sudden certain details start becoming a bit hazy. Jet-setting from country to country in search of angling paradise has inevitably begun taking its toll on your mind and body leaving you drained, despondent and worse yet, delirious. With all the money, time and effort you've invested into making sure your trip would be an unforgettable one, you forgot to address one very important factor, jet-lag.

The curse of modern jet travel, jet-lag results in loss of working efficiency and holiday enjoyment, often for days after arriving at your destination. Some symptoms associated with jet-lag include fatigue, disorientation, lack of motivation and even severe illness which can completely ruin any dream getaway.

No-Jet-Lag, a unique homeopathic remedy, now offers a convenient solution. Its effectiveness has been proven scientifically and is recognized internationally by business and pleasure travelers, professional athletes/teams, celebrities, tour operators, travel agents, flight crews, military and diplomatic personnel. The product is also backed by a study of international flight attendants who not only found the product effective, but essential for anyone crossing more than three time zones.

No-Jet-Lag is available in a 32-tablet strip packet and can be taken with every type of medication by travelers of all ages. For more information visit www.nojetlag.com or purchase it over-the-counter at select pharmacies and grocery retailers throughout the world. ■

You're Covered

One of the main reasons people get into financial trouble is because they don't have health insurance. Out of the blue, someone gets sick or has an accident and needs medical care, which can run in the hundreds of thousands of dollars, depending on the prognoses. Reading this you may be telling yourself, "I guess I can skip this article. I have health insurance." And that's great. But what a lot of people who already have health insurance don't think about is what happens when they step out of the country and an accident occurs. You're no longer covered by your own insurance and now you're in the hole. You're not alone, as each year millions of travelers neglect taking out travel insurance or simply don't realize they're not covered.

Known as the gold standard in travel insurance, TravelSafe, a division of the Chester Perfetto Agency has marketed and administered the most comprehensive policies available in the industry and are leading the way in developing new solutions for the insurance needs of individuals and families throughout the United States and Canada.

TravelSafe also offers coverage on lost baggage and travel delays, and features an exclusive option, which allows you to cancel your trip up to two days prior to departure for any reason and receive a refund of up to 100-percent of your total prepaid non-refundable trip cost. With unbeatable customer service and a solid reputation, whether traveling close to home or around the world, TravelSafe Insurance has you covered, providing the security and peace of mind you need to enjoy your trip.
